

Learning Journey
CHILE

January 13-18, 2020

Explore Chile. Re-imagine philanthropy. Practice bridging leadership.

Come join leading philanthropists and social investors in a transformative leadership journey. Participants will learn about the philanthropic and social investment ecosystem in Chile and, in stepping 'outside their box,' expand both their perspectives and practices in other countries.

The journey will invite self-reflection and creativity, offer new leadership tools and cover multiple issue areas including environmental stewardship, systemic approaches to philanthropy, collaborative projects, and impact investment.

Hone your skills as a bridging leader

Bridging Leadership is the ability to build trust for collective action. It's at the heart of Synergos' approach in creating a more just, equitable, peaceful, and regenerative world. As a learning journey participant, you will practice bridging leadership skills including systems thinking, deep listening and self-reflection.

Discover opportunities for collaboration across borders and issues

Connections made through Synergos learning journeys often extend beyond the trips themselves: you will build the foundation for developing new relationships with peer philanthropists and leaders, as well as with the communities in the places we visit.

Building trust works

This learning journey is part of the Synergos Philanthropy program, which helps philanthropists and social investors increase their impact as bridging leaders by enabling them to connect to purpose, build trust, and collaborate with others.

Synergos Philanthropy includes the Global Philanthropists Circle (GPC), a community of more than 100 leading philanthropic families and social investors from 30 countries. Synergos Philanthropy also convenes an annual Philanthropy Week in New York, as well as many other activities in the United States' West Coast, Europe and Asia, and Brazil. The Latin America Philanthropists Circle offers bridging leadership training and other learning opportunities for philanthropists and social investors around the world.
